Cancellations and No Shows

There's no charge for cancelling a booking a) within five minutes of making it (either online or on the phone) or b) more than 12 hours before the booking starts. Otherwise, cancellations with less than 12 hours' notice are charged at 50% of the original time charge. Cancellations without any advance notice – once the booking starts – are charged at 100% of the original time charge. Keep in mind that a portion of your cancellation charge may be waived if someone else books the car for the time you've freed up.

Cancelling is always cheaper than not showing up. No Shows* are charged at 200% of the original time charge (minimum $15).

Lates

The charge for returning a Co-op vehicle late is $25. All of our drivers deserve to have their booked car ready and waiting for them at their booked time. As soon as you think you'll need the car longer than originally booked, call us to see if your time can be extended, or try doing it on the Bookit site.

Not fobbing out

Fobbing out at the end of your booking secures the vehicle by disabling its engine. This significantly decreases the chance of someone taking it by mistake or stealing it. Leaving a vehicle unsecured and not fobbing out at the end of your booking may incur a charge of $35.
